

THE GREAT ARCHITECT'S MASTER PLAN

On 4/4/07, the print layout from the preceding page, along with a CD containing the text and the image, was sent to "The Tufts Daily" via "Express Mail". Also enclosed, was a money order from the US Postal Service for the full amount of the ad. On the 11th the paper's Executive Business Director sent it all back saying that they did not accept money orders, or files on CD or "print advertisements of such a blatant religious nature". It was disheartening, but it wasn't the end of the world.

I've been told that the Maya, that ancient civilization of the Americas, predicted the "Apocalypse" in 2012. These days, the "Family Radio" personality, Harold Camping, has been predicting that the "End of Days" is coming within the next few years. His reasoning is centered around the "Harvest of the Ingathering" that comes at "the end of the year" as it is recorded in Exodus 23:16 & 34:22. The harvest comes in the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar, which is not at the end of the year: hence the clue to the end of days. There is some supporting scripture in Leviticus, at the beginning of chapters 23 & 25. But the problem with his assessment can be found in Isaiah, Chapter 29, verses 11 through 14, where it is promised that "the vision of all has become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed". The words are sealed to the "learned" man and to he who is "not learned". Their "Wise" men and their "Prudent" men shall all be made to look the fool. I have heard Harold say that the "King James" version of the Bible is the only reliable translation and he is not totally unjustified, given the tendency of some translations to interpret the meaning of the text rather than to simply translate the words. The "King James Version" of verse 11 refers to someone who is "learned". The "Revised Standard Edition" interprets the same root word as "one who can read". The two concepts were virtually indivisible and interchangeable in the world until the dawn of the age in which the printing press made the Bible accessible to the masses and people learned to read outside of the influence of Religious institutions: at which time a third category emerged: "one who could read" but was not a "learned" individual. Preconception is the stumbling block to understanding. That's probably why Jesus chose His Apostles from those outside the Synagogue and why He was rejected by those from within it. I am not learned nor am I unable to read. Understanding is what I hope to achieve here.

The Bible has two main functions: The first is to teach the Law of God and the second is to give the proof of God's existence. Our understanding of the Law must begin with Adam and Eve or else it will be distorted in all our applications of the Law, so please bear with me for a moment while I explain the story of Adam and Eve.

The popular culture often teaches that Eve took a forbidden apple from the Garden of Eden and shared it with Adam to the eternal condemnation of both. But the Bible is quite clear (Genesis chapters 2 & 3) that the fruit she took refers to the fruit born of her actions. That is to say, her action was to abandon the Law of God by deciding that she could determine what was good and what was evil as though she were a god. Adam would partake of this notion as well, so that when God came to walk in the garden they hid from Him. Not because it is a sin in and of itself to be naked, but because they knew that their deeds would be exposed before God. It was Adam and Eve that decided that nakedness was sinful. After all, they had been naked up until then without sinning. The idea that God came down to walk "with them" in the Garden is a reference and a conformation of the notion that they had walked with God to that point. The language is repeated concerning Noah in Genesis 6, verse 9. Which is to say: that they walked in the ways of God to that point. They walked the path of God without straying from that path and falling into the ditch that awaits on either side of the path. It is not about 27. The head of gold was explained as the Kingdom of Nebuchadnezzar as he ruled the known world. The chest and arms of silver that represented the Kingdom to follow is a representation of Christianity usurped under the power of Rome and its Cesar turned Pope. The power and influence of that institution would reach as far as Jerusalem and the slaughter of its Muslim and Hebrew inhabitants in the Crusades. In time the Ottoman Empire would eclipse the power of Rome in the region and Islam would be carried far and wide in its wake. This is the belly and the thighs of bronze in the vision. In time a new idea called Imperialism and Capitalism would emerge in Europe and it would be given dominion over not only the old world, but the new, until it was cast off by the Christian Peoples (the silver of the Refiner's fire, Proverbs 25:4) of the united colonies. This represents the iron legs of the vision. Unfortunately, over time, Imperialism and Capitalism would reassert themselves in these United States. The Iron that smashes to bits would mingle with the Clay (Proverbs 26:23, Isaiah 1:22, Ezekiel 22:18). The Clay which had prevailed in God to become a nation of Laws, would itself become brittle, giving rise to a Super Power that made war on the world. The Law would be rejected in favor of the rule of Mighty Men who cared not for the Laws of God, and a mighty battle would break out in Heaven.

This is the second line of thought, and now, with your permission, the third.

When God sent Joshua out to battle at Jericho, the city was destroyed utterly. And God said that all the treasure of the city belonged to Him and Him alone (Joshua Chapters 6 & 7). But the true treasure of the city was not the precious metals and jewels which God had created by His own hand. The treasure was that which was His right as God. It was the right to discern good from evil that had been usurped by Adam and Eve to their everlasting shame. It had been taken in the Garden of Eden, passed on by the Mighty Men to Noah and on to Ham who passed it on to Canaan where the walls had been leveled by the trumpet call to uncover that which was covered up in Jericho (reference nakedness). So that when the thief who stole part of the treasure of God hid it in his tent, he dared to keep that which belongs to God for his own. So that God destroyed him as well.

It is for this reason that the Prophet was instructed to bury a garment of white linen under a rock (Jeremiah 13:1). It symbolizes the Law of God that was hidden in the tent of the man after the battle of Jericho. It demonstrates that when the treasure of God, which is the Law, is buried under a rock, it becomes corrupted and good for nothing. The word "corruption" is used to describe the decay of a dead body in the Bible. Jesus did not suffer the corruption of death because He was resurrected. It is the metaphorical meaning of the word that has become the mainstay of its use in modern times. It refers to the decay of morality within society that follows the death of Spirit. So that when we look at Joshua as he stands before the throne of God in soiled garments (Zechariah Chapter 3) we understand that it is a representation of the body of Christ (the name Joshua meaning savior). It represents the Christians of this new Age, who stand before the throne of God in soiled garments. As Christ demonstrated at the tomb of His interment in John 20:17, when Mary Magdalene would have reached out to hold him, he would not allow it. He told her that she must not, as He had not yet ascended to the Father. Indicating that if she were to embrace Him in that way, Jesus would have been corrupted by her and unable to ascend as a result (when holy touches unholy, the holy becomes unholy in Temple ritual). Jesus would offer to let the Apostles touch Him with a finger. Mathew seems to give a conflicting report (28:9), in which Mary Magdalene (who had had seven demon spirits cast out of her by Jesus at their first meeting) and the "other Mary" would worship Him touching His feet. Never the less, all these things together indicate that it is Mankind that is corrupt and Christians that have soiled their garments in their turning away from the law to play the Harlot (Revelation 18, Jeremiah 3:6, James 2:25). As Christ did not teach us to pray in vain, it should be obvious that the day will dawn when God's will is done on earth as it is in Heaven. But, it is not for us to sit calling like children in a marketplace in anticipation of the coming of the Lord (Luke 7:32). He has promised that that will not bring Him. Rather it is for us to put off our corruption that we may ascend to Heaven on Earth as the body of Christ. It is for us to return to the Law and to reject the Lawless. Otherwise, we are as dead in the Spirit as Adam and Eve.

If Jesus is interchangeable with the Word of God, which is interchangeable with the Law, as expressed in the first paragraph of John, then when we allow torture and abandon habes corpus and the right to trial, we deny Jesus who is the Law that demands that we do unto others as we would have them do unto us and in so doing we become a portion of the Anti-Christ rather than the Body of Christ. When a man's life's work goes to taxes and interest we have acted as Cesar and as the Money Changers, rather than a people governed by the Law. The meaning of the first resurrection is found in the raising of the dead in Spirit, (which is Mankind today), through the revelation of the Mysteries of God in these days: the Latter Days. Not the end of days (Revelations 20:6). Seven hundred and seventy-seven are the number of years of Lamech, the father of Noah. Noah, who survived the flood. But this flood is the flood issued from the mouth of the dragon against the sons and daughters of the Founding Fathers (Revelations 12:13), the infant body of Christ.

The Laws of God are meant to protect us from outcomes that are as inevitable as succumbing to gravity. There is no divide between the Ten Commandments and the Laws of Physics. They were both created by God. A few years ago, on Easter Sunday, I published in the Omaha World Herald. I offered a "Unifying Theory of the Universe based on E=MC² and an explanation of the Mysteries of God" to anyone who would seek it out, but the wise and the learned were content in their own conceits.

There are many more converging lines of reason that support these first three, including a forth that is too complicated to share with you here. It requires sight you do not yet have. It can be found at the web-site thevisionsofzekeiel.com.

The host of the "Family Radio" program, "Open Forum" has noted that the Hebrew Temple in Shiloh and the Temple in Jerusalem both lasted 380 years and he has wondered at the meaning of that number. I suggest the following:

In the year of our Lord 1623, Galileo Galilei published a small work called "Saggiatore", which means in English, "Assayer". The Encyclopedia Britannica describes it as "a brilliant polemic on the physical reality and an exposition of the new scientific method." What began as the search for truth, which is ultimately God, would become the conceit of Mankind. Like any Church turned institution, Science, with a capital "S" became entrenched in its own dogmas which purport to disprove the existence of the Law and God.

In 2003, in the heart of the land, I published in the local newspaper, that these are the days in which the Mysteries of God would be revealed and I offered to share with anyone who would care to look, the nature of the sacred scroll of Revelations. In fact, I sent a copy of the article to Herald. The article heralded the arrival of the answers to the Mysteries of God, which is the proof of God, into the world: and it marked the end of the religion called Science with its indictment. It did not put an end to Science and the beliefs of its followers, any more than the birth of Christ put an immediate end to Judaism or the publication of Saggratoric bring down the Roman Catholic church. It simply marked the end of the age.

If Jesus and the word of God are as one as explained in John Chapter 1, verses 1 & 2; then whenever the word of God is broadcast on the airwaves, it can truly be said that Jesus comes to you on the clouds as well (Mathew 24:30) and has done so for a century of these Latter Days (The first two millennia being the first two days, as a millennium is like a thousand years to the Lord (Psalms 90:4 & 2nd Peter 3:8). There have always been people predicting a "Rapture", despite the fact that the word does not exist in the Bible. "Webster's" defines the word as "the act of carrying off". But that is the third definition. The first two have to do with "ecstatic joy" and "religious or spiritual ecstasy". Just as Adam and Eve did not die physically when deciding to become as gods, neither will you be lifted up physically when you receive your sight. Some of you will understand immediately and some of you will need time to understand. Some of you may choose to remain blind. But in these dark days, some of you will dare to open your hearts and your minds and in so doing, you will be lifted up (in Spirit) as promised by Luke in Chapter 17, verse 34: the "Jubilee".

Associated with the ingathering is the festival of the "booths". Booths symbolize temples and they are individual in nature. You have, no doubt, heard that your body is a temple. But, though each of us begins as a holy temple unto the Lord, our wise and learned men and women build institutions and structures dedicated to the perpetuation of the very things that ultimately lead us to corruption at the expense of our individual holiness. As the clergy of religion will away their days in the study of the "Word" of God, the clergy of Science are elevated by the study of the "Natural Law" which is also of God, and together they preside over the ordination of those who prosper at the expense and enslavement of the children.

Master Camping has been building a "Time Line" to help explain the meaning of the "Ingathering". But in order to understand time you must first abandon your preconceptions. Turning to Daniel 10:13 we see Jesus in conversation concerning the battle between Himself and the King of Persia. Persia, meaning that which divides and rips into pieces (a griffin). and its King have withstood the Christ for 21 days: or does it refer to centuries? For Jesus did not come to Daniel across space. Daniel lived in the days before the birth of the Messiah. He came to Daniel across time.

You may well wonder at my own conceit: that I have dared to decide what is truth and what is fiction. But the truth is that I did not come to this as a person seeking the Mysteries of God. I came as a revolutionary: trying to design a peaceful direction of change for the sake of the children. I put no limits and no boundaries on the changes I would propose, save one. I decided from the start that the "Law" should guide my parameters. Not the laws of the Mighty Men who rule to their own advantage. But the Law given to Moses and tempered by the Christ, Jesus. After ten years it was done and I sent it into a world that hates the Law and so it was rejected by the world. Two and a half years later I would begin to see the Bible with an understanding that amazed me again and again. If all this is some kind of "Cosmic Hoax", then I am its victim, not its perpetrator. If it all originated from my own mind, then my genius for twisting parable and simile and prophecy, language, history and sentence structure, into revelation, is unparalleled. If not, then the publishing of the book in January of 2000 marked the beginning of a new age, at the dawn of the seventh millennium, the seventh day: the Sabbath (Jeremiah 18:4&6) (Daniel 2:35)(Psalms 110:1)(Genesis Chapter 2:1-3)(Revelation Chapter 20).
